CANADIAN IN DERBY SWEEP WINS $150,000

"Bad Luck" Holds Ticket On Bois Roussel in the Irish Lottery

$500,000 Comes To Dominion

TORONTO (CP)—A Canadian who used the nom-de-plume "Bad Luck" today won $150,000 in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes as Bois Roussel won the 15th running of the Epsom Derby. "Bad Luck" had ticket No. CH69908.

Aurele Labelle, 33, Buckingham, Que., and William Riddle, Mount Pleasant, Ont., won $30,000 each when the favorite, Pasch, placed third.

Total Canadian winnings in the sweep exceeded $500,000 as 76 held tickets worth $2,650 each on non-starters and horses unplaced; four won $2,650 each; four won residual prizes worth $5,805 and 122 won $500 consolation prizes. Labelle, electric company employee, and Riddle both sold half interest in their tickets on Pasch for $20,000. When the favorite came in their net winnings amounted to $45,000.

In Sudbury Dave McVie and Harry Williamson of the Falconbridge smelter, joint holders of a ticket on Pound Foolish, were glad they had sold a half interest in the ticket for $5,155 for Pound Foolish was not in the money. The two split altogether $6,480. "We had plenty of plans and would have been out of here fast if Pound Foolish had won," said McVie. "But we didn't win, so it is back to work for me." And we won't be buying any cars, washing machines, farms or anything else."

OUTLOOK FOR CANADA GOOD

Manufacturers' Head Sees Encouraging Signs For Nation's Production

OTTAWA (CP)—Decline in business in Canada during the last few months was due largely to the influence of the United States on Canadian thoughts and activities, declared F. C. Brown of Vancouver in his presidential address at the opening luncheon of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association's annual meeting here today.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Brown, "there is nothing in the basic situation in this country to account for the extent of the moderate recession in business that we have suffered. The fear of what might happen in Canada, following what has happened in the United States, has been the most depressing factor in our

Where Body of Kidnapped Boy Found

It was on beach pictured above, the remains of 12-year-old Peter Levine of New York floated out. The shore fronts the estate of Mrs. Lewis Iselin at Davenport Neck, Long Island. Investigators have indicated that the finding of the body gave them several clues which may lead to the kidnappers who killed the boy. Detectives suddenly became mute when the question of fingerprints was brought up. "No comment," was the only answer to the question of whether prints had been found. However, Lieut. George Reiffenberger, in charge of Westchester County detectives, later made this cryptic remark: "We're much better off now."

B.C. to Facilitate Federal Loans For Municipal Projects

THINKS PLAN "MAY BE HELP"

Mayor McGavin Sees Possibilities in Municipal Improvement Assistance Act

The Municipal Improvements Assistance Act, introduced by Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, in the House of Commons yesterday to help revive the building industry through cheap loans to municipalities on provincial government guarantees, "might be a help," Mayor Andrew McGavin stated today.

"I would prefer to let the council discuss the matter before voicing any personal views," he added. Guardedly he suggested it might be of assistance to the city should it require capital to finance power plant construction if the results of negotiations with the B.G. Electric Company, now proceeding, required such expenditure. Reeve Alexander Lockley of Esquimalt said he did not wish to comment on the proposal until he had had time to investigate it more thoroughly. Reeve R. R. Taylor of Oak Bay could not be reached this afternoon.

Barcelona Tells of Raid On Mallorca: Mountain Battle in East Spain

BARCELONA (CP—Havas)—The defence ministry today claimed its airmen sank three insurgent vessels in the harbor of Palma de Mallorca, important insurgent island base in the Mediterranean.

Authorities meanwhile counted the death toll at more than 400 in the wake of yesterday's insurgent air raid against the town of Granollers, 16 miles northeast of Barcelona. It was feared the next 24 hours would see many of the hundreds of injured, largely women and children, were in a hopeless condition.

Hart Pledges Co-operation On Ottawa Scheme; Special Session Unlikely

Co-operation of the British Columbia government to see that Dominion loans will be made available to municipalities of the province under the federal government's new works scheme was pledged by Hon. John Hart, Acting Prime Minister, today.

In semi-official circles it was not expected that a special session of the Legislature would be required in this province to pass the necessary legislation guaranteeing the loans. If the province gives Ottawa a guarantee that it will introduce the legislation at its next regular session this should be sufficient, it is thought. The British Columbia Legislature will meet in October in any event. Some of the other provinces do not meet until next spring.

Commenting on the introduction by Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, of the municipal aid bill in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Hart said that as he had only the summarized newspaper information of the bill he could not say exactly what action would be necessary by the province.

"However," he added, "we will do everything that is required to facilitate the loans to the municipalities for revenue-producing works. I cannot say yet whether a special session will be needed."

$1,000,000 FOR B.C.

British Columbia municipalities, it was estimated roughly, will have a total borrowing power under the Ottawa scheme of about $1,000,000 for works. This is calculated on the basis of $3 a head for every person in organized territories, with Vancouver limited to $250,000.

When he introduced the Municipal Improvements Assistance Act, 1938, in the Commons yesterday, Mr. Dunning said:

SPECIAL SESSIONS

Special sessions of the provincial legislatures may be called during the summer to enable provinces and municipalities to fulfill requirements of the new federal legislation designed to revive the building industry.

Part Holiday On King's Birthday

Thursday, June 9, set aside for observance of the "birthday of King George VI," will be only a partial holiday in British Columbia. Government and civic offices, schools and banks will close, but retail stores and other private business generally will remain open. This was the effect today of a provincial government proclamation which, while confirming the Ottawa order for a public holiday, neglected to make it a holiday under the Weekly Half Holiday Act. Thus stores, factories and other private businesses are not forced to close, although they may do so if they wish.

BODY OF MAN IS FOUND IN INLET

VANCOUVER (CP)—The body of an unidentified man was found early today in the water near the First Narrows of Vancouver harbor by Collin W. Campbell, workman on the new First Narrows bridge. The body was that of a man about six feet tall, weighing 200 pounds. It had been in the water about a month, detectives said.

TAX PAYMENTS WELL AHEAD

Collection in City 3.5 Per Cent Above 1927 Period to End of May

Collection of current taxes in the city during the first five months of the year stand approximately 3.5 per cent higher than those of the corresponding period in 1937, figures announced today by the assessor-collector's department show.

Last night a total of $559,149.97, or about 34.6 per cent of the total levy, had been paid in through the medium of prepaid taxes.

At the same date last year, the amount was $526,980.91, or approximately 31.2 per cent of the higher levy. The actual increase in collections, despite the fact the city has less to raise this year, owing to reduced assessments and a lower mill rate, amounted to $32,169.06 this year to date over last year up to May 31.

In the arrears division, where the amount outstanding for 1938 is about $150,000 less than last year, the city had collected $79,319.52, against $92,186.73 to May 31, 1937. The drop of $12,867.21 still left the city with a net increase in tax collections of $19,301.85.

Early mailing of tax returns was credited with assisting in the collection of the larger amount this year.

Today, with citizens making their usual month-end payments as well as meeting their requirements set forth on their tax bills, the office spent one of the busiest days of the year, with a queue of people constantly before the cashier's cage.

Hundreds Hunt For Body Of Boy

Man Arrested in Florida As Remains of Kidnapped Jimmy Cash Sought

PRINCETON, Fla. (AP)—Abandoning hope for the safe return of kidnapped Jimmy Cash, hundreds of men undertook a hunt in posses of 15 today while federal agents dramatically seized one of their number.

Emerging from a conference with the father, James Bailey Cash Sr., in his home, the federal men seized M. F. Braxton, a bald, portly carpenter, about 55 years old, who was in the throng being formed into posses in a school yard 100 yards away.

Shielding him with their bodies, they hustled him to an automobile and sped off northward to a secret destination. They did not take him to the Miami Federal Bureau of Investigation office immediately, and spokesmen there refused to discuss the development.

A flurry of excitement was caused within the same hour when a man at Cutler, a village a few miles north, was found shot to death beside a suicide note. It developed he had been in poor health and his act had no connection with the kidnapping case.

A general call was sent out for volunteers to start a thorough search of the farms and groves in this vicinity for some trace of the five-year-old youngster, stolen last Saturday for $10,000 ransom which was paid early yesterday. The highway through the centre of Princeton soon was lined with automobiles for a mile in each direction as the aroused farmers responded.

Conscription In Britain If War Outbreak Comes

Former Buffalo Mayor Is Jailed

By GEORGE HAMBLETON Canadian Press Staff Writer
 LONDON — Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today the government has a military conscription bill ready for submission to Parliament in the event of war. The bill, which has been in draft since 1922, does not provide for conscription of manpower, or application of the compulsory service principle to industry. The term man-power, as used by the Prime Minister, referred to labor.

The announcement struck the crowded House with painful, if not unexpected, shock. It brought a whole series of supplementary questions. The opposition pressed for details. Geoffrey Mander, from the Liberal benches, wanted to know whether compulsory military service would be accompanied by conscription of wealth.

TERMS CHANGED

Mr. Chamberlain, replying to demands for details, did not think publication at present would be helpful because the draft would be changed from time to time as conditions changed.

The government had considered in outline how to make the most efficient use of the nation's man-power in non-military channels in time of war, but no scheme had actually been worked out for the application of conscription to industrial or other non-military service, Mr. Chamberlain said.

Labor back-benchers pressed the point that the statement made a few days ago by Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Coordination of Defence, might bear the interpretation that some form of industrial conscription was contemplated.

The Prime Minister replied that during the previous discussion Sir Thomas did not have time to prepare his words. Therefore, he did not express himself as otherwise he might have done. "What my right honorable

PROSPECTORS TO HUNT FOR MISSING FOUR

White Planes Comb Land and Water, Men Landed From Motorboats on West Coast of This Island Will Search Hills for Wreckage of Plane Which Disappeared on Flight to Zeballos From Vancouver

Camp Men Saw Plane Disappear

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. P. Pederson today received a letter from her husband, a logger at Franklin Creek, B.C., in which he said employees at the logging camp were "waiting to hear if a plane was lost Friday," because they had seen a machine disappear suddenly as though it had crashed.

Franklin Creek flows into the Alberni Canal, on the route believed taken by Pilot Len Waagen from Vancouver to Zeballos.

Waagen and his three passengers have been missing since last Friday.

Saskatchewan Nominates

Official Line-up For June 8 Polling Sees 172 in Field

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan election line-up was completed today when candidates filed official nomination papers with the returning officers. When reports come in from all the districts it is expected 172 men and women will be on the lists for the 52 seats in the Legislature in the June 8 polling.

It will be a record number of candidates for Saskatchewan, exceeding the total of 169 who fought it out for 55 seats in 1934.

When nominations closed at 2 this afternoon it was believed the party grouping was as follows: Liberals 53, Social Credit 48, C.C.F. 31, Conservatives 26, Independents 7, Labor-Progressives 2, Independent Labor 2, Labor 1, Independent Conservative 1, Independent Social Credit 1.

Liberals controlled the last House, almost sweeping the province in 1934.

SOCIAL CREDITERS

The election June 8 will mark the first concerted effort of Canada's newest political party—Social Crediters—to win a provincial Legislature since they swept Alberta August 22, 1935.

Much Bombing In China War Area

Japanese Claim Chiang's Lines Breaking; Armies Move Little

By ELMER W. PETERSON Associated Press Foreign Staff
 SHANGHAI — Japanese said Wednesday General Chiang Kai-shek's latest defence lines along the cross-country Lunghai railway were giving way gradually before Japanese aerial power.

Japanese army planes intensively bombed Chinese troops near Lanfeng, although the army of Nippon still appeared to be balked in its efforts to reach Kaifeng and Chenzhou, railway points on the central China front, which are important to the Japanese offensive planned against Hankow, China's provisional capital.

Japanese claimed capture of Ningling, 20 miles west of Kweichow, as a further step in strengthening their 250-mile half-moon front, but they still were unable to force their way ahead to a marked degree, and some Japanese units about Lanfeng were cut off from communication with each other.

DOIHARA'S FIGHT

No one could say definitely what was the fate of the division

By LOCKLEY JONES Canadian Press Staff Writer
 ZEBALLOS, B.C. (CP)—Plans for a motorboat patrol along the west coast of Vancouver Island were formulated today as aerial search continued for the missing Ginger Cootie Airways seaplane and its four occupants.

As the searchers widened the areas of their flights on the fifth day, the island's rugged west coast and the open Pacific Ocean still held the secret of the missing plane's fate.

The greatest air hunt in the island's history has brought no word of Pilot Len Waagen, and the three passengers he carried on a flight that started at 9:30 Friday morning from Vancouver to Zeballos—Mrs. George Nicholson of Zeballos, Charles R. Rumsey, Toronto mining engineer, and H. Boyd of Steveston, B.C., who was traveling to this little gold-mining town of 1,200 in search of work.

The motorboat patrol is designed to land miners and prospectors on the seashore and send them on foot through mountain reaches where the yellow Fairchild seaplane might have crashed.

A British Columbia police motor launch and seven or eight fishermen's boats probably will take part in this newest angle of the hunt, which has seen as many as 10 planes in the air at one time.

TOFINO HUNT

Search today was concentrated on an area around Tofino, where F. M. Knott and his two sons said they saw a plane Friday afternoon over the small sawmill they operate at the head of Cypress Bay.

Knott's statement was confirmed today by search heads who interviewed C. A. Elkington, district magistrate at Tofino, who sent the report to Zeballos. Elkington quoted Knott and his sons as saying they "definitely" had seen a plane Friday between 1:00 and 1:30 p.m. It was heading westward over Herbert Arm, apparently toward the open Pacific, and seemed to be flying "normally."

Today three planes—piloted by R. L. "Ginger" Cootie, Ted Dobbin and Flight Officer W. Riddell of the Royal Canadian Air Force searched between Esperanza Inlet and Tofino Inlet.

headed by the veteran of many campaigns, Lieut.-Gen. Kenji Doihara, called "the Lawrence of Manchuria." Chinese said it had been cut to "mere remnants" and, Japanese admitted the possibility Doihara had been encircled on three sides.

The division Tuesday was reported by Chinese to be trapped with scarcely a chance of escape. In attacking from the air, the Japanese admitted they were being forced to bomb heavy artillery positions west of Lanfeng, indicating the extent to which the Chinese were prepared to defend Kaifeng.

Still refusing to admit the loss of Pohsien, Chinese said Japanese were attacking there and trying repeatedly to smash through the city gates with tanks.

TWO VIEWS ON PADLOCK LAW

OTTAWA (CP)—Joseph Bratette, Liberal, Cochrane, Ont., is opposed to communism and prepared to fight it wherever it appears, he told the House of Commons last night during continued debate on the Quebec padlock law.

"I know whereof I speak," he said. "During a bushmen's strike in my own section I barely escaped with my life from some of those Communist leaders in the pay of Soviet Russia."

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, said the danger of Quebec's padlock law was that if a province could keep out communism it could also keep out Social Credit. If a province were to be permitted to legislate in such a degree it would be bad for the unity of Canada.

CONSCRIPTION IN BRITAIN IF WAR OUTBREAK COMES

friend meant to say was that the fact a man had enlisted or had been trained in, say a fire brigade, as extra police, or as an anti-aircraft warden, must not be taken as affording protection against military service in the event of war should the government of the day find it necessary to introduce a compulsory military service bill in Parliament.

TRAINING VALUABLE

At the same time Mr. Chamberlain hoped his announcement would not be taken as meaning there was no purpose in joining these voluntary services.

If war came suddenly, the Prime Minister added, the way in which such a person could best serve would probably be the way in which he had been trained.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Greenwood, Labor, questioned whether the Prime Minister did not think Sir Thomas Inskip had been a little dishonest in appealing for volunteers, while knowing the draft of a conscription bill was in existence.

"I do not think there was any dishonesty," Mr. Chamberlain replied. Sir Thomas Inskip might have been unintentionally misleading, but none who knew him would say he was dishonest.

DETAILS NEEDED

The Independent Labor Party now joined in.

"Do I understand the Prime Minister to say," questioned James Maxton, "that since 1922 there has been a bill in draft in detail for compulsory military service in this country, that it has been in view of successive governments, and that it will be immediately introduced in Parliament in the event of war, with full details of ages, classes and so forth?"

"I didn't say details," Mr. Chamberlain replied. "I said the proposals have been in the form of a draft bill since 1922. I said they had been under the consideration of successive governments. I did not say what view successive governments took. I did say it had been changed by successive governments from time to time."

A Labor member questioned what Sir Thomas Inskip meant by saying a competent authority would be empowered to allocate to everybody a proper position in time of war.

Mr. Chamberlain: I have already explained that my right honorable friend distinguished, or intended to distinguish, between military and other service and intended to convey that there would be a competent authority which would say whether a person—in the event of the military service bill being introduced—should be exempted from military service in view of the importance of other work."

TO BE DECIDED

George Buchanan, Independent Labor, asked whether the government at the same time intended to conscript wealth.

"It will be for the government of the day to decide what proposals it shall submit to Parliament if war breaks out," Mr. Chamberlain replied, adding that "neither this House nor the government are at present committed."

The House turned to other business with the dry suggestion from a Labor back-bencher that Mr. Chamberlain should compare

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—A wallet containing a picture of a child, said by the finder to resemble five-year-old James B. Cash, kidnapped in Florida, was picked up today on a stairway leading to the Long Island Railroad station here by Charles E. Price, a freight clerk.

On an envelope containing the photograph was this unsigned message: "Boy held by gunmen and woman. I escaped in the Everglades, 16 miles from Princeton (Florida), across the railroad tracks."

The wallet, tied with twine, and its contents—which included the card of a Florida restaurant—were turned over to Chief of Police Charles Neinstahl, who thought the discovery so material he immediately telephoned federal agents, both in Florida and in New York City. Agents were reported en route here.

Other legislation of a similar character would be introduced this session, the minister said, and it was assumed he referred to the proposed bill to assist the construction of low-cost, low-rental housing.

The bill, a new departure in federal legislation, was received with general approval by all parties in the House. Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, suggested that under existing laws some of the provincial governments might not be able to give guarantees and municipalities in some provinces might not be able to borrow without special legislation.

Mr. Dunning said the laws of the provinces varied so widely with regard to municipal financing and guarantees, it had been found impossible to draft a bill which would be effective in all of them.

The bill authorizes the Minister of Finance, with the approval of the Governor-in-Council, to make agreements for loans to municipalities to enable them to pay the whole or part of the cost of constructing or making improvements to or rentals of municipal waterworks systems, gas plants, electric light systems or any other self-liquidating project.

The principal conditions which must be met before a loan can be made are:

The municipality must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the minister that any project to be financed out of the proceeds of a loan is self-liquidating—that is, the bill provides that the project must be able to pay for itself out of its own income.

MOTORBOATS SEARCH ISLAND COAST FOR PLANE

The hunt was concentrated on an area 75 miles long by 25 miles wide.

As a result of a study of maps last night the pilots divided the area into three squares. Flight Officer Riddell was assigned to the northern section, Dobbin to the centre piece from Nootka Sound to Sidney Inlet, and Coote to the southern section as far as Tofino.

Coote, head of the air company which owned the plane, was accompanied by Pilot Sheldon Luck, who came here from Edmonton and joined the hunt.

Major George Nicholson, postmaster of Zeballos and husband of the missing woman, flew with Dobbin as an observer.

This afternoon the fliers met at Refuge Cove, entrance to Sidney Cove, for refuelling and a conference. They exchanged search areas, with the whole section to be covered again by three machines.

ACT ON REPORTS

Concentration of the search on today's flight area followed receipt of reports from Nootka, Tofino and Estevan, of a plane which was seen and heard there Friday.

Telephoned confirmation of wireless reports that Hunter Chamberlain had seen a plane heading out to sea Friday afternoon reached here.

CAPTAIN'S REPORT

The steamship Southholm, which left here at 5.30 last Thursday afternoon for Ocean Falls, B.C., returned today, and her master, Capt. R. V. Bennett of Victoria, said that as he sailed up the west coast of the island a strong wind, increasing from 40 to 45 miles an hour at the northeast coast of the island, was blowing.

He said the wind was "probably stronger on Friday." A bank of fog extended 20 miles to sea.

REWARD OFFERED

Pilot Grant McConachie of Edmonton today offered $500 reward to "anyone giving definite information which will lead to the whereabouts" of the missing seaplane.

McConachie, head of United Air Transport of Edmonton, which is affiliated with Ginger Coote Airways, owner of the missing craft, arrived at Zeballos today.

McConachie said that in his opinion Waagen was a "very competent and resourceful mountain flier."

"I don't think Waagen would go near the ocean, although we must check every angle," he said. "For all we know, Waagen may have been within 20 miles of Zeballos when he ran into trouble."

As McConachie offered the $500 reward, Pilot Ginger Coote issued an appeal to residents of Parksville, Cameron Lake, Alberni and Nanaimo, on the route of Waagen's Vancouver-Zeballos flight.

He asked that anyone who might keep a "diary of the time planes passed overhead" report to police so the information might be available to the aerial searchers.

ton, B.C., Whitehorse and Dawson, Yukon Territory, and Fairbanks, Alaska, behind the coastal range.

Approximately 1,183 miles of new road must be constructed. Of this, approximately 520 miles lies in British Columbia and 480 miles in the Yukon Territory.

Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia, in recent conversations with Washington officials, was reported to have suggested construction could be speeded if the United States were willing to loan Canada at a low interest rate a large portion of the Canadian cost of the project—estimated at approximately $12,000,000.

OTTAWA (CP)—The proposed international highway through British Columbia joining the United States with Alaska has been discussed informally by Prime Minister King and Premier Pattullo of British Columbia and "the matter is still under consideration," Government Leader Dandurand told the Senate this afternoon.

"There have been no negotiations concerning the building of a strategic military road through British Columbia," Senator Dandurand said in answer to a question from Senator W. A. Griesbach, Conservative, Edmonton, as to whether the object of the negotiations was the construction of a military highway for the use of the United States in time of war.

Premier Pattullo today was traveling homeward to Victoria, having left Ottawa last night after a brief visit a few days ago in Washington, where he talked with President Roosevelt.

offensive aimed at the capture of Valencia.

On land and in the air, the fighting in this new drive by General Franco's army assured proportions equal in severity to any in the nearly two-year-old civil war.

Reports reaching the frontier said the death toll from yesterday's insurgent bombing of Granollers, 16 miles northeast of Barcelona, would reach more than 500. Many other hundreds were injured.

DEBENTURES AS SECURITY

As security for the loan the Dominion will take the debentures of the municipality and principal instalments and interest must be paid semi-annually.

Roughly the amount which might be loaned to any municipality might be computed at $3 for every person within its borders, Mr. Dunning said.

The measure, in conjunction with the housing bill, was designed to bring about a revival in the building industry, Hon. Norman Rogers, Labor Minister, told the House.

It was plain employment could be revived in building activity under proper stimulus.

Reeve Crouch of Saanich said decision regarding the municipality seeking a loan under the plan would await consideration of the municipal council and the receiving of official data on the scheme.

TRADE TREATIES

Conditions throughout the British Empire, compared favorably with those in other territorial and economic groups and Mr. Brown paid tribute to the Ottawa agreements as having done much to turn the tide of the depression in Empire countries and being a steady influence in the present situation.

"Within the boundaries of our own country," said Mr. Brown, "there may be found many reasons for looking forward with moderate confidence."

The president noted that Canada's export trade had maintained its favorable position in a very satisfactory manner, this country standing fourth among the nations of the world in the value of annual exports. He saw ground for much satisfaction in the way that the index number indicating the prices of farm products had risen to a point where it now stood slightly above the index number for manufactured goods, and he referred with gratification to the encouraging agricultural reports from all parts of Canada. The steadily-increasing production of Canadian mines had also had a stabilizing and beneficial effect on material conditions throughout the whole country.

TAXES BIG DRAG

Mr. Brown concluded his address with an appeal for the maintenance of proper safeguards to enable industry to compete at home and abroad. He referred particularly to the heavy burden of taxation.

"An examination of manufacturers' statements," he explained, "shows that taxes now form a large part of costs, while, in many cases, governments take more in taxes than the shareholders receive in dividends."

AIM BLOW AT POKER RACKET

OTTAWA (CP) — A blow at what the Justice Department describes as "flourishing poker racket," chiefly in British Columbia cities, is aimed in a criminal code amendment now before the House of Commons. Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, introduced the measure Monday in the annual omnibus bill of code amendments.

An official of the department said operators of British Columbia gambling joints were becoming rich by charging exorbitant rentals for a space to hang a hat, for a chair to sit on, or for the exclusive use of a portion of the green felt covering on a table, one of these arrangements being a condition of participation in a poker game.

Today these charges are legal and they have become a substitute for the time-honored rake-off from the stakes. Now these law-circumventing charges are to be outlawed where they are a condition of being allowed at the gaming table.

The present provision applies only to payments from stakes.

The amendment would broaden the definition of a common gaming house to include a place where "the whole or any portion of the stakes or bets is either directly or indirectly paid to the persons keeping such house, room or place, or any direct or indirect fee is charged to or paid by the players or any of them for the right or privilege of participating, or for the purpose of enabling them or any of them to participate in such games or for the use of any gaming appliances, tables, chairs or other paraphernalia employed in playing such games."

C.M.A. AGAINST
40-HOUR WEEK

Delegate at Geneva Instructed to Oppose International Move

OTTAWA (CP) — On the ground that a compulsory 40-hour week on an international basis would be unsound, the industrial relations committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has instructed A. R. Goldie of Galt, Ont., employers' delegate to the International Labor Conference at Geneva, to oppose a general 40-hour week convention under consideration by that international court.

This was reported to the annual meeting of the C.M.A. here today by the committee, of which W. C. Coulter of Toronto is chairman.

The report noted that six of the provinces of Canada, in the last two years, had passed legislation admitting employees have the right to form and join trade unions and to bargain collectively through them, "while employers are forbidden by intimidation or otherwise to prevent their employees from joining unions."

ANNUAL STATEMENTS

The committee said it had taken the position that, if trade unions are thus to be recognized as bargaining agents, they should be required to file copies of their constitutions and by-laws and of the names of their officers, as well as an annual financial statement setting out receipts and expenditures. It was also of the opinion that if trade unions are to be given the new rights and privileges accorded in the new legislation, they should be required by incorporation, or otherwise, to become answerable in law for breaches of contracts into which they enter.

Commenting on minimum wage and industrial standards legislation, the committee said: "The experience of the past year, particularly in Quebec and Ontario, has confirmed the opinion of your committee that, if the purpose of both types of act is, as their sponsors have declared and as your committee believes should be the case, to put a stop to the payment of unduly low wages, minimum wage legislation is distinctly preferable to industrial standards or 'codes' legislation, as being less disruptive of normal and healthy employer-employee relations."

PRINTERS EXPECT
NEW PRESIDENT

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Unofficial returns from 682 locals announced at International Typographical Union headquarters here show an increasing majority for Claude M. Baker of San Francisco, candidate for president against Charles P. Howard of Chicago, incumbent, in the election held last week. Approximately 850 locals balloted in the election.

Woodruff Randolph of Chicago, candidate for re-election as secretary-treasurer, who made public the returns, said there likely would be no more unofficial tabulations. The sealed returns will be opened by the international canvassing board June 6.

The vote on president, as announced by Randolph, gave Baker 35,154 and Howard 21,946.

Howard's declaration that he would lead the union out of the American Federation of Labor and into the Committee for Industrial Organization was an issue in the election.

Building Total Up
In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Unofficial figures released at the City Hall show building permits for 161 homes valued at $442,000 were issued during May. In the same month last year permits totaled $281,800.

The May figure was the highest in any single month since May, 1931, when permits for 147 houses valued at $486,500 were issued. The figure is higher than that for the first six months of 1936, and more than the entire year of 1933.

A $1,000,000 permit for construction of the First Narrows Bridge was issued in May.

April Imports
Show Decrease

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's April imports were valued at $48,895,000 compared with $56,886,000 the corresponding month last year, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The total from the United States was $31,381,000, against $36,701,000, and from the United Kingdom, $9,187,000, compared with $10,207,000.

Radio Penalty
Plans Eased

If Owner Proves Set Unusable Act Not Enforced Against Him

OTTAWA (CP) — Regulations and laws aimed at preventing evasion of radio license fees are to be a little less drastic under amendments made in the House of Commons yesterday. The bill, modernizing the old Radio-Telegraph Act, was passed through all stages, after some changes to meet Conservative objections.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, read a legal report stating the government had constitutional power to require radio repair and maintenance workers to handle only those receiving sets on which the annual license fee had been paid.

Penalties provided for possession of radio apparatus will be effective only when the owner cannot satisfy the authorities such apparatus could not be and was not being used for sending or receiving purposes.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. A more bowel movement doesn't always work at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else like this.

Tinder in Mexico

IT IS REPORTED TODAY THAT THE troops are beginning to be sent home and the threat of revolution in Mexico has passed. This is good news, for the fear has been that Mexico might become another Spain, bringing to this hemisphere the violence and social cleavage that accompanies open collision of the forces of the Left and the Right.

The magazine Ken has published photographs of documents apparently proving that large shipments of arms and munitions have been going to Mexico in recent months under Fascist auspices. These were being placed in caches maintained by enemies of the Cardenas regime. More recently, General Cedillo, long recognized as the archfoe of the government, launched a rebellion and has been under pursuit by government troops.

The radicalism of the Cardenas government, culminating in the seizure of the oil wells for the benefit of the people of Mexico instead of foreign holders, has rallied outside enemies. The social and economic changes under Cardenas are really the culmination of a revolution which began soon after the turn of the present century against the feudalistic social and economic system which dominated Mexico, and the poverty, illiteracy, and ignorance which that system brought in its train. No one can deny the revolution which evoked today's radicalism. The reactionary forces of Mexico are reaping the whirlwind, after decades, even centuries, of exploiting the masses.

Yet the radicalism, however extreme, should not blind outsiders to the dangers of strife in Mexico. To aid in the preservation of stability, Mr. Walter Lippman, who cannot be accused of being a radical, has urged the United States government to aid Cardenas with arms and supplies. It is important, he says, to avoid a civil war on Mexican soil, especially one with ideological implications such as that in Spain. It is, of course, easy to exaggerate the possible roles Germany and Italy and Japan might play in such a struggle. They certainly could not be as important participants as Germany and Italy and Russia are in Spain at present. Yet the fact that mysterious arms shipments have been reaching the Cardenistas for some time from abroad and the indications that they are financed by "various foreign interests," shows the explosive potentialities.

For a Free British Press

THE EMPIRE PRESS UNION AT ITS convention in London has called for modification of the libel laws in Britain which, it is felt, curtail the power of the press to indulge in just and honest comment. The libel laws of the United Kingdom were described as outrageous, grotesque, unfair and not in the public interest.

The Ottawa Citizen considers the criticisms not exaggeration and believes they apply in almost equal degree to the laws in Canada. It is not that the newspapers want to call names or say things they should not; it is simply a case of reasonable limitation on the interpretation of expressions of opinion sincerely made. As one writer put it, writing has become "a dangerous trade in England." The truth of the assertion that a blackguard is a blackguard no longer has much bearing on the law as it is latterly being interpreted. British courts would rather reward underserving plaintiffs than allow one deserving one to go unsatisfied.

"British newspapers boast of their freedom, but they are not so free as those of France and the United States in respect to political comment," says the Citizen. "In those countries, either because it is the custom or because plaintiffs have been taught that they must have a case to argue, the press is much more outspoken. This is not to argue that similar habits should be acquired by British newspapers, but it does seem desirable that the law of libel should cease to be the sword of Damocles it is at present."

Canada's New Graduates

GRADUATIONS FROM CANADIAN UNIVERSITIES this year are fewer than in 1937, the trend toward vocational degrees is more marked than in previous years, and the number of women taking higher education shows a big increase. These are some of the highlights from a survey of the 1938 results in 17 Canadian universities.

Approximately 5,525 in Canada are receiving university degrees this year. Last year there were 5,731; in 1936, 5,500; and in 1935, 5,750. Eastern college heads are not generally concerned about a drop in their figures—"just normal fluctuations." The west takes its increase as a sign of the optimism of the people and a widening outlook on life. The lowered figures this year are principally from the larger universities. Eastern institutions reporting an increase this year include Mount Allison, Sackville, N.B.; Dalhousie, Halifax; Western Ontario, London, Ont.; McMaster, Hamilton, Ont., and the University of Ottawa. The universities of Manitoba, Winnipeg; Saskatchewan, Saskatoon; Alberta, Edmonton and British Columbia, are all in the gains column. While total graduations have decreased from coast to coast in nearly every instance, there are more women graduates than last year. The total 1,280 is about 150 more than in 1937 and probably the highest in Canadian university history.

Common to many of the university reports across Canada this year are the lower figures for graduations in the more academic courses of arts and science and indications of more ambition for training along applied or specialized lines. Degrees awarded in the regular arts and science faculties will total about 2,900 as compared with 3,000 in 1937. Commentators may see a drift of "back to the land" in the fact there are 257 graduates in scientific agriculture this year as compared with 216 last. Engineering in its various branches—construction, mechanical, mining—is also on the up-grade, judging from the graduations, 408 for 1938 as against 380 in 1937. The girls reaching for new fields helped to swell the total in these branches. The total for the commerce and finance degrees is down a little. In household science there are this year about 150 graduates to 138 in 1937. Women are also well represented in the pedagogical degrees which are also likely to show an increase in total for 1938. Indications are there may be a decrease in the number of lawyers turned out in Canada this year but an increase, compared with previous years of medical, dental and theological graduates.

Zeballos Loses Its Mother

SYMPATHY OF HIS FORMER ARMY friends in Victoria and all others who know him will be extended to Major George Nicholson if, as now appears certain, his wife should be one of the victims of the airplane tragedy between Vancouver and Zeballos.

Major Nicholson was a popular officer of the 6th Battalion. The war in which he served with distinction left him with a restless spirit which could not be confined to the routine of city life. After a pioneering life in West Coast settlements, it was natural that the wonder mining town of Zeballos should call him and her who shared his experiences and enterprises. Major Nicholson is postmaster, mining recorder and general civil servant at Zeballos. When he went there accompanied by his wife, she was the first woman to enter the district and she was known as the mother of the town.

It is tragic that death should strike at a time when Major and Mrs. Nicholson were in the midst of a particularly promising bit of pioneering. Vancouver Island has still a need for pioneers of their type.

Machines Create Jobs

IMPROVED MACHINERY IS STILL PICTURED as a giant smasher of men's jobs, the monster bread-thief. However, the 11-year survey just completed by the American Iron and Steel Institute, indicates that technological advances in steel mill equipment have been directly responsible for a jump in employment in that field.

The employment increase between 1926 and 1937 for four leading steel companies which adopted continuous rolling mills and other technological innovations was 28 per cent, or 5 per cent more than that of the steel industry as a whole. The report explains that what these technological advances did was to make shorter working hours possible, accelerate production, improve the product's quality (and therefore increase the demand), and lower the price. All of which not only actually increased employment, but the individual's earning capacity also.

It indicates—again—that a tool is simply an inanimate object which a man uses, and the man, not the tool, is to be held accountable for the ends to which it is used.

Notes

30 PER CENT TAXES FOR INTEREST

From Ottawa Journal

A question answered in Parliament shows that 30 per cent of all revenues collected by the Dominion Government goes to pay interest on the Dominion's debt. The debt now stands at $3,572,000,000; the annual interest paid on it is $137,000,000.

What this means may be seen by going back 25 years. In 1912 Canada's total debt was but $353,000,000—more than $3,000,000,000 less than it is now—; the annual interest bill but $12,500,000. The interest bill that takes up 30 per cent of all revenues now took up but 7½ per cent of all revenues then.

Most people who talk glibly about the government reducing expenditures forget this interest bill. Forget it just as they forget tens of millions of other expenditure that is just as uncontrollable. Pensions, for example. Pensions take up some $50,000,000 a year.

Fortunately, the interest rate paid by the government has been coming down steadily. Nevertheless, it is no matter for complacency to have a condition under which 30 cents out of every dollar collected in taxes by the government has to be earmarked for interest.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

PUBLIC APPETITE

ANYONE WHO IS interested in seeing how the public appetite for luxury and comfort grows insatiably just needs to drive up the Island Highway to Campbell River. There are miles and miles of road that were widened out and improved a few years ago and seemed magnificent to us when they were completed. But the wide, straight stretches of the original highway still left are almost intolerable to the modern motorist.

The new diversions seem now like the last word in luxury and comfort, and will make the public insist shortly on the abandonment of all the diversions made, say, five years ago. And I dare say in 10 years we shall feel that the excellent road now being built is out of date. There is no end to the public appetite. There is no end, either, to its ingratitude. Nobody remembers what motoring was like here 10 years ago. Everybody remembers only the highways of the United States.

OLD COMPLAINT

HAVING EFFECTED so many improvements to the Island Highway, it is a pity Minister of Public Works MacPherson should find his handiwork marred by another rash of illegal tin advertising signs. A leading manufacturer has felt the urge of spring and has sowed his disagreeable seeds all along the highway north of Nanaimo, perhaps hoping that Mr. MacPherson doesn't ever drive that far north.

The taxpayers shouldn't have to foot the bill for tearing down these signs, which is a formidable job, as you will know if, as a patriot, you have ever torn down an illegal sign yourself. Any company which violates the law and puts the signs up should have to take them down and it should be fined also, as you would be for a much less trivial highway offence.

NEWS

UP IN THE WOODS these last few days I had a chance to observe the modern man's insatiable thirst for information. There we were away from civilization, away from all the ills of society, and yet everybody wanted to rush to the nearest radio and bring all these wretched things into the clean, untroubled wilderness. At great inconvenience newspapers were shipped in to us every morning. Several times a day the radio news broadcasts would be turned on, and most of the time, instead of talking about trout, we were talking about Czechoslovakia.

This is an appetite I could never understand. I can go for weeks or months without seeing a paper or hearing a radio because I am always sure that the thing which happens today will be canceled out tomorrow. In fact, it would save a lot of time if one were to read only a review at the end of each year, or even at the end of each century.

Up in the woods, for example, we knew that if war broke out in Europe, as seemed likely, we would hear about it soon enough when we got back to the main road. Meanwhile what was the use of spoiling a fishing trip with this disagreeable intelligence? All the important news would keep quite well for a week, a month, a year or a lifetime. But nobody else believes that. Everybody else wants to know not only what has happened in the last five minutes, but what is going to happen in the next five.

The result is that we are all magnificently informed about everything and understand nothing. The time to read about things like the present situation in Europe is 50 or 100 years hence, when the thing may be understandable. Anyway, that is what I think when there is serious work like trout fishing to be done.

THE END OF CLEOPATRA

Then there was the Roman poet Horace, the good friend of F.P.A. . . . Horace said in one of his poems that it was a time for dancing pulsanda tellus, for striking the ground with flying feet—New York Times.

Horace: Book I, Ode 37

Nunc est bibendum pulsanda tellus.

Now is the time to drain the cup. That cheers, with shouts of "Bottoms up!" To feast; to tap it as you go Upon the light unfettered toe.

Hitherto it had been a crime To touch that Caecuban sublime While still a wild and frenzied queen Tried to disrupt the Roman scene.

That woman, with her rotten crew Of crooks and lechers! crazy, too, Enough to nurture any hope. For she is drugged with Fortune's dope.

Vanished the smile from her proud lips When Caesar burned her pretty ships; Altered her wine-deluded cheer Into the rigorous fact of fear.

His galleys gave her ships a shove, Even as the hawk pursues the dove. Or as the hunter makes to flee The hare o'er snowy Thessaly.

A noble queen, she showed no fear For death upon the pointed spear; And scorned to flee, forevermore To dwell upon some hidden shore.

And gazed she with unruffled brow Upon her castle, fallen now; Bravely the asp she nursed, that she Might grace no glorious victory.

Power Over Europe

From Manchester Guardian

HITLER'S seizure of Austria, someone has said, is the most important thing that has happened since the French Revolution. That may prove to be a true description. For it is certainly a powerful encouragement to Hitler to proceed with the large plans he sketched in his book for bringing Europe under his control. Many people in England are saying today that the seizure of Austria is an unpleasant thing, that it is a warning to us to brace up our strength to defend ourselves and our possessions, but that what happens to Europe is a matter of indifference to us. Let us draw back into our own world, which is a large and various world, and nurse our strength and our resources, amusing ourselves while Europe settles down or does not settle down under her new master.

This, which seems a simple conception of policy, masks a revolution of such importance that the war itself may seem in some future perspective a mere incident. For let us consider for a moment what has been the basis of freedom and order in Europe since the days of Louis XIV. The balance of power as a guiding consideration in foreign policy has been often abused, but in the sense that Fox gave it in one of his speeches when he said that he meant by it that no power should be allowed to become a danger to the liberty of Europe it has been a good friend to human freedom. Louis XIV, Napoleon, the Kaiser, all wanted more power than was good for Europe, and the instinct to resist them was a sound one. Side by side with the great powers through the nineteenth century small nations maintained a high level of civilized life—nations that would not have survived if there had been no check on the rapacity and the ambition of the strong.

In this economy Great Britain played an important part. If generally a silent part. Her temptations were outside Europe. When those temptations touched her European interests she was as selfish in Europe as anybody else, but for the most part her interests, as well as her inclinations, put her on the side of freedom on the Continent. This was a rough-and-ready way of preserving freedom, and nobody could think it the best way. Loves Dickinson wrote a brilliant book in which he showed that the state of anarchy in which Europe lay before the war, when peace, like freedom, rested on a balance of power always liable to disturbance by intrigue, under conditions growing steadily more provocative and competitive, must lead inevitably to war.

NATIONAL GALLERY CENTENARY

LONDON.

The British National Gallery, which has just celebrated the centenary of its present building in Trafalgar Square, holds a high place among collections of international paintings. Although a wealth of art had accumulated in private possession in England from the middle ages onward, it was not until 1824 that the National Gallery was founded, when the state purchased a private collection of pictures for the sum of £37,000 and exhibited them publicly in the house of their former owner.

Since then the gallery has grown rapidly as a result of bequests, gifts and purchases. While normally the government contributes sums of between £5,000 and £10,000 annually, special state grants of large sums have enabled the gallery authorities to purchase whole collections or single pictures of the world's great masters. Apart from these grants, magnificent private gifts and legacies have helped to make the gallery a truly representative collection of pictures of every school.

There is more than a possibility that North America may find itself in possession of 500,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat next fall.

If nothing is done to support port prices we may expect the market to fall below the cost of production. Just now, when probably 150,000 farm families in drought areas of the west are hoping for a good crop at fair prices to rehabilitate their fortunes and enable them to remain free men and women, it would be a calamity if wheat were to drop to bargain counter levels.

The fact that the Wheat Board stands ready to support prices when they fall to a certain level will have a steadying effect on the morale of the wheat growers.

The important thing in Hollywood is to be a mother. There is nothing else here to occupy the mind. Margaret Sullivan, motion picture actress.

APPRECIATIVE NEWCOMER FROM THE PRAIRIES

To the Editor:—I should so like to express my appreciation of my first Christmas and winter and Easter in Victoria, B.C.

I remember quite well my first winter in Canada was 1898 to 1899. I was then on a cattle ranch 32 miles from the one-eyed town of Red Deer, the halfway house between Calgary and Edmonton on the C.P.R. On Christmas Day, 1898, the ranch thermometer on the north side of the log shack at noon registered 48 above zero, or 16 degrees above freezing point. It was a very mild winter, with rainfall on Jan. 17, an unusual thing on the prairie. After January winter came, with a foot of snow on the level, most of which stayed until May, but the temperature was not very far below zero.

Here in Victoria, the worst storm I ever saw was on Saturday, Nov. 13 last, and I smiled when I read in the Times that was the worst blizzard in 26 years, because although I felt the dampness I could not call it really cold, and I don't remember more than about two weeks' cold between Nov. 13 and April.

Easter Sunday, 1938, was the dullest-looking and most rainy Easter Sunday I ever saw, and it rather disappointed me not to see any sunshine. But my disappointment was fully counteracted by so many kinds of beautiful flowers for Easter decorations in St. John's Anglican Church, and in all the florists' and cake windows. I never saw the like in any other part of Canada.

So in spite of the best friends I left in Regina, the number of whom I could count up on my fingers—and I knew a lot more than that—I would not want to go back there for fear of meeting those whom I never wish to see again. Those who have written to me, and people here as well, don't blame me a little bit for not wanting to go back to that beastly bare cold prairie. Instead of, as I was told before I left Regina, finding the Victoria people too stuck-up and unsober to speak to me, I find them the other way. In contrast, I found a lot of Regina people too stuck-up and unsober to speak to me, unless they wanted money only out of me.

me. So I would sooner stay here please, if you don't mind.

My trouble in Victoria is the three different organizations of which I am a member have their meetings or practices or concerts on Tuesdays and Thursdays and Fridays, and I can't take them all in; so I go where the best music is.

ANOTHER FORECAST

From Montreal Financier

A valued Wall Street correspondent, who in the past has given the editor of The Financier much guidance, has the following to say in a letter:

"It is my belief that the market has touched bottom and that a definite upturn is so near at hand, with a change to the bull trend, that investors should make their purchases at this time and stay in an invested position until the end of 1939. This is reasoned opinion."

As I was driving home the other day I observed in front of me a van bearing the legend "Remover of Repute." The diversity of London's industries has often been the subject of remarks, but it was new to me that "debunking" must now be counted among them.

Junior Writing Award Is Made

"The Good Goblin" Wins
Festival Cup; Play Contest Is Close

For her play "The Good Goblin," Dorothy Davies of Victoria was awarded the authorship cup for the junior section, presented by Mrs. David Spencer Jr., at the B.C. Provincial Drama Festival yesterday afternoon.

The play was the only one entered in the play-writing contest but Mrs. Yvonne Firkins, the adjudicator, said it well deserved the award. It had a small cast, good imagination, and was quite suitable to junior work.

Presented by the Junior Shamrock Players, under the direction of the author, the play was ruled out of the general junior contest because it was under-timed, taking only 11 minutes. The time minimum is 15 minutes.

This also happened to the Junior Shamrock's presentation of "Darby and Joan," so that only two plays, "The Sentimental Scarecrow," by the Western School of Dancing, and "Ten Minutes By the Clock," by the Duncan branch of the same school, were left in the competition. Mrs. Firkins reserved her final decision on the winner between these until today.

The latter, written by A. C. D. Riley and directed by Gwendolyn Cox, told of a young queen's desire to be free from her "gilded cage." The performers were Alice Oldfield as the queen, Lois Moore as a page, Ruth Solly as the king, Susan Anketell-Jones as Pom-Pom the butler, Kazuyo Toyota, Patty Cowans, Glenys Lashmar and Lois Wren.

Mrs. Firkins referred particularly to the delightful costuming of the production, but suggested that their effect was slightly spoiled by an unbalanced set. As a whole the cast showed excellent team work, except for the page, who, while having a good sense of rhythm, was not quite in the mood of the play.

"The Sentimental Scarecrow," which tells of a scarecrow that came to life, is by Rachel Field, and was directed by Dorothy Cox. Taking 16 minutes, this just got over the time barrier. Mrs. Firkins thought that Ann Crowther, as the scarecrow, did a clever job, although she might have done a little less fidgeting in her difficult part. Around her the whole cast did good work, although Polly, taken by Doreen Margetts, did not team up with her speeches sufficiently. Others in the cast were Bernie Atkins, Peggy Lou Parker, Bunt Wright, Walter Margetta and Scott Kerr.

Mrs. Firkins singled out for special comment the performance of Dorothy Cross, who was called upon at short notice to take the part of Mrs. Winkle, a pensioner, in "The Good Goblin." The play was a fantasy in which the goblin and the sofa talked to each other, the sofa finally repenting under the goblin's persuasion for having hidden money belonging to Mrs. Winkle. The adjudicator regretted the play was under the time limit, saying the director should be more careful next time. She found fault with the set, which made the players talk up stage. She thought Pat McLement, as the goblin, might have been more mischievous, and praised the work of Mary Paterson, speaking as the sofa. Patsy Scott took the part of Mrs. Podger.

Patsy Scott took the role of Darby in "Darby and Joan," which was directed by Marion J. Ord. Her voice was good, said Mrs. Firkins, but that of Joan, taken by Mary Paterson, was a bit better. The fairy, played by Pat McLement, was a little too detached. The costumes were attractive, she said, and the play was charming and would have got good marks if within the time limit.

Mrs. Firkins said the standard of junior plays had improved greatly since three years ago.

"I think most people used to hate sitting through them," she said, "but something wonderful seems to have happened to the junior groups. There is more vitality, more timing, and really much better performances all around."

One intermediate entry was heard in the afternoon, "Snowed Up With a Duchess," by C. A. Castell. It was presented by the Royal Bride Players, under the direction of Ethne Savage. The play deals with the ludicrous efforts of a Mrs. Chonondley Jones, played by Ethne Savage, to play up to the Duchess of Salterton (Betty Cottel), when she is snowed in at the country house. Georgina Dowdall, as Madame Value and Davina Dingwall as Mrs. Hodge, were the other players. Mrs. Firkins noted that the play was an old-timer and a hard one. The players, she said, had a good chance at characterization, which they did not seize. She thought the make-up was good, but the costumes were not suitable to the black back-drop.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Bowditch, Beaver Street, Oak Bay, at a quiet wedding conducted by Rev. James Hood at his home this afternoon.

The bride was given away by her father. She wore a stylishly-cut beige model dress and a beige turban hat decorated with daisies. There were no bridesmaids, and only relations and immediate friends were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowditch left for a honeymoon in the United States. On their return they will make their home in Victoria.

WRIE-HALL

A wedding of interest to many in Victoria was that of Margaret Ann, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Barr Hall of Princeton, B.C., and Dr. Edward Gordon Wrie of Hedley, son of Mrs. Mary Wrie and the late Mr. Wrie of St. Thomas, Ontario.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, who was educated at St. Margaret's School, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a long train and a bolero jacket. Her veil, in the halo-effect, was caught to a band of orange blossoms. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses.

She had as her attendants Miss Augusta Boyes of Nanaimo, Ontario, and Miss Marjorie Wrie, niece of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Todd Harris of Hedley, Dr. Paul Phillips and Mr. Bronson Lansing were ushers.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents, where the guests were welcomed by Mrs. Hall and by Mrs. Wrie. Mrs. Leonard Backler of Kelowna and Miss Ann Hall, sisters of the bride, were among the guests at the wedding. Dr. and Mrs. Wrie left on a wedding tour of eastern Canada and will make their home in Hedley.

School of Art Opens First Display

Varied Work to Be Exhibited at Kingston Street

The Victoria School of Art, under the direction of Ina D. D. Unthoff, Dup. G.S.A. (Scott), will hold its first exhibition since being established in September 1937, at the Kingston Street School (one block west of Parliament Buildings), on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The work shown will be that of the students of Mrs. Unthoff's classes in figure drawing, portrait painting, design, commercial art, composition and illustration. The study of historical costume and dress design, block printing, leather work and a special exhibit of pottery will also be shown.

There is some outstandingly strong work in figure drawing and portraiture by Margaret Eard, Gladys McIntosh, Charles Smith, Beatrice Jones, Deana Cobbett, Priscilla Wright, Roseanna Gillespie and Pat McPherson. Among the leatherworkers are Margaret Wilcox, Margot Green, Audrey Eberts and Mrs. Hamilton.

The Saturday class for juniors shows work of high order from Hazel Jackson, Thelma Fletcher, Holly Greer, Rosemary James, Joan Clark and Lillian Emerson.

The work in silversmithing design, under Mrs. Unthoff, comprises the analysis of form and proportion as it influences good contour in designs for bowls, tea and coffee sets, jugs and roses. This class has been attended by a group of practical working silversmiths.

A number of masks designed and made by students of the Art School for Milton's "Comus," produced and directed by Miss Glidde and staff of Strathcona Lodge School, Shawing Lake, will be shown.

Ernest Pyewell, who has come to Victoria from London, England, to instruct a class in bookbinding, will show a unique collection of his work in the well-equipped bookbinding room of the school.

The exhibition will be open to the public.

The School of Art is sponsored by the Department of Education, and is established in large and well-lighted studios particularly suited to the work.

P.T.A. Planning School Picnic

Plans for the annual picnic to be held at the close of the term were discussed at a general meeting of the Gordon Head Parent-Teacher Association held in the school recently. Arrangements for a motion picture show at a date to be announced later were also considered.

Mrs. R. M. Duncan spoke on the upbringing of children to fit them for their future home and social life. Songs by George Humeston, accompanied by Mrs. C. A. Goodwin Jr. were enjoyed.

Mrs. G. Ingledew, a member of the provincial P.T.A., who has recently come to live in the district, spoke on the work which has been done by the provincial body, and invited all members to attend a rally to be held at the City Hall on Friday evening. The meeting closed with the serving of refreshments by the committee.

Presentation Made By Mayor

Miss Margaret D. Josephs of the City Hall staff, who will leave tomorrow on the first leg of a journey which will take her to England and South Africa, was honored at a ceremony at the City Hall yesterday afternoon.

On behalf of the City Council and the hall's staff, Mayor Andrew McGavin presented a grey calfskin purse and a sum of money to Miss Josephs.

Operator of the City Hall private telephone exchange since 1935, she will sail on Ss. Queen Mary from New York on June 8. She will visit relatives in London for a few days before leaving for Capetown for an indefinite stay.

The mayor spoke briefly, wishing Miss Josephs a pleasant voyage and happiness in the new country to which she is going. The gifts were accompanied by an address signed by the mayor, the council and her colleagues on the City Hall staff.

Lovely Katherine Rawls, 21-year-old Olympic swimming ace, is pictured above with aviator Theodore H. Thompson in Columbus, O., after admitting their recent secret marriage in Valdosta, Ga. The bridegroom reported there would be a church wedding when the families are assembled in Columbus. Asked if she will turn pro, Miss Rawls said, "The only professional standing I want is that of a good housewife."

Immigration From Japan Debated

I.O.D.E. to Redraft Resolution on Present Agreement

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution favoring termination of Canada's "gentleman's agreement" with Japan was referred to a committee for re-drafting by the annual meeting of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire yesterday evening.

The re-drafted resolution, with further information appended, will come up at a later session.

Under the "gentleman's agreement," Japan agrees to limit to 150 a year the number of her citizens emigrating to Canada.

The resolution originated with the British Columbia provincial chapter and was presented by Mrs. H. P. Swan, Duncan, B.C., after she had read the report of the committee on immigration prepared by Miss R. Joseph, Quebec, national convener.

Provincial presidents taking part in the discussion here were Mrs. W. C. Hodgson, Quebec; Mrs. A. T. McMurray, Fredericton, and Mrs. Robert Hawkins, Saskatoon. They expressed sympathy with British Columbia but did not feel they could vote on the matter as their provincial chapters had not considered it.

FEDERAL PROBLEM

A motion to table the resolution was lost after Mrs. R. J. Spott, Vancouver, stressed the importance of the question and said the organization should at least take a firm stand. Other delegates expressed the opinion the matter was not British Columbia's problem but Canada's, and the I.O.D.E. should take leadership in it. It was, they said, an urgent problem of national life.

Mrs. William Morrison, Hamilton, president of the Ontario chapter, said "we should not go to the government with half-baked proposals. We go far too often to them not knowing what we want."

Decision was finally made to have the resolution re-drafted.

A resolution to the effect that future immigration should be limited to British and Scandinavian immigrants was tabled for further information.

A resolution which met with unanimous approval asked that chapters secure information concerning the placing of juvenile immigrants on farms and keeping a watchful eye on them.

STUDY OF PROVINCES

Chapters of the I.O.D.E. were urged to study their own provinces in relation to the Dominion as a whole at another session yesterday.

This plea was contained in the report on Empire study, read by Dean Mary L. Bollert, Vancouver, who urged also that articles on "Known Facts of Canada," prepared by provincial conveners, be made available to all chapters.

An exhibit of books, pictures and scrapbooks as a guide to Empire study, in charge of Mrs. Howard Coulter, Vancouver, supplemented the report.

"We aim to assist teachers in teaching Empire history," Mrs. Coulter said. "It is our hope to place directions on how to use the flag in every classroom in Canada."

Nearly all of the 750 chapters have adopted one or more district schools and provided them with libraries of 20 books on history, adventure, legends and travel, she said.

Winnipeg Singer Gets NBC Audition

WINNIPEG, Man. — From Jasper Park Lodge to the audition room of the National Broadcasting Company studios in Radio City, New York, is the experience of J. Roberto Wood, well-known vocalist of Winnipeg. For several seasons Mr. Wood has sung to the guests of Jasper Park Lodge with great success.

Last year his voice attracted the attention of a representative of the NBC, who was a guest at the time. During the winter season Mr. Wood sang over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network. A record was made at the request of NBC and sent to New York. It attracted such favorable attention that an offer was sent to Mr. Wood to give an audition in New York, June 7.

Mr. Wood is particularly well known in Winnipeg musical circles and for many years has been choirmaster and musical director at St. Stephens United Church.

I.O.D.E. Honors B.C. President

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Frank Stead of Vancouver, provincial president of the British Columbia Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, was last night presented with a life membership in the national chapter.

The presentation was made by the national president, Mrs. W. G. Lumbers of Toronto, on behalf of the Vancouver Municipal Chapter, whose members were hostesses at a dinner in honor of delegates attending the 38th annual meeting of the I.O.D.E.

Mrs. Lumbers was joined by eight provincial presidents in thanking the Vancouver members for their hospitality.

Handcuffed Pair Start Long Hike

TORONTO (CP) — Handcuffed together, declaring themselves twins, parentless and unemployed, two 30-year-old Montreal women have completed the first stage of their walking trip to Vancouver.

The pair, known now as "Julia and Juliette," paid their compliments to Mayor Ralph Day Tuesday and moved on toward their goal, which they hope to reach in eight months at an average speed of 15 miles a day.

They are engaged in the venture because they are unemployed and hope to find work in Vancouver. Dark glasses hide their identity, but Julia declared "our father was well known in Montreal and we don't want people to know who we are."

The handcuffs were locked by Mayor Ranauld of Montreal, who sent the key by mail to the Mayor of Vancouver to await completion of the trip.

LANGFORD

The Legion Hall was crowded for the dance revue and variety concert sponsored by Langford Parent-Teacher Association with Sonya Slavina directing. The 25 items on the program included tap dances, Hungarian, Spanish, Russian, Mexican, toq and a square dance.

The program included a playlet written by Mrs. Rosa Semple, entitled "The Weaker Sex," the author and Reuben Hardy being the cast. Alec Semple contributed four amusing recitations. Violin solos were given by John Pepper, accompanied by his sister, and local solos by Harold von Holstein Rathlow.

Children taking part in the dance program were: Patsy Brown, Yoe Clevette, Hetty Baynes, Beverly Fidler, Kathleen Willard, Bobby Harknet, Violet Oak, Eva Milne, Margaret and Joan Semple, Barbara Kemp, Kathleen Sullivan, Doris Pearce, Alice Johnson, Alice Taylor and Leslie Bestwick. Heiress May Wed

Contemplating marriage, though her engagement to Jimmy Johnson, Elizabeth, N.J., gentleman horseman, has not been officially announced, is Miss Frances Dodge, 22-year-old daughter of the late John F. Dodge. Her father and his brother, Horace, founded the Dodge Motor Company and built a fortune of which Frances inherited $40,000,000. Miss Dodge, pictured above as she piloted a sulky in a society horse show, is the sister of Mrs. Isabelle Dodge Sloan, race horse owner.

Colors Popular For June Bride

NEW YORK (CP) — Wedding veils add another brush stroke to this year's fairy princess picture. They are often short and voluminous—floating about the head and shoulders in an airy cloud of tulle, although those of heirloom lace are allowed to fall to their full length.

White and ivory still lead the bridal pageant. Color, however, is in the picture and a number of June brides are choosing gowns of pale pink, blue and mist grey, customing their attendants in the same colors or in a scale of the same shades.

Flowers are used in new and intriguing ways this year. Color has crept into the bridal bouquet, which is often pruned of foliage and trimmed with tulle. Bridal attendants carry leaf or floral muffs or garlands of flowers draped over their arms.

Although most bridal gowns are intended to be worn for the wedding only, designers have given a thought to economy and practicality with several models which combine a trained evening gown with a bolero. The jacket may be worn during the ceremony and discarded when the bride later wishes to wear her dress as an evening gown.

Decline of Interest in Geneva's Work Noted at Convention

VANCOUVER (CP) — Membership of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire has exhibited a "slight falling off in interest and support of the League of Nations," Mrs. James Ince of Toronto, convener of the League of Nations Society committee, reported at the I.O.D.E.'s 38th annual convention here today.

This state of affairs was not surprising in view of the unsettled world conditions. She said, moreover, that there was still much enthusiasm evidenced in the order.

"Let us continue to increase our support and interest in the League of Nations Society in Canada and thus as an order do our part in bringing about the rehabilitation of the League of Nations," she urged delegates.

Mrs. Ince said several United States delegates had attended the annual meeting of the League of Nations Society at Hamilton in May, 1937, and that she felt it was most encouraging to find a large number of American citizens definitely anxious for the United States to join the League of Nations and also to drop its policy of isolationism.

"It seemed to sound a new note of hope for peace in the world," she said.

Miss Eldred Macdonald of Toronto, convener of the distinguished visitors' and hospitality committee said her committee had planned the exchange between different parts of the British Empire of school teachers. Nearly 100 were placed during the last year. While the year spent in some Dominion other than their own was of undoubted value, yet "we do not fail to realize how important it is that they should return to their homeland imbued with a wider and more exact conception of the wealth of this Dominion."

FINANCIAL LOSS

The I.O.D.E. operated with a net loss of $10,284 in the fiscal year ending April 15, 1938, Mrs. P. T. McCurdy of Toronto, national treasurer, reported today at the morning session.

The reason for the deficit was closing out of the war memorial fund, out of which bursaries and scholarships have been awarded to children of men who served overseas in the Great War. With increased awards during the last year of the fund's operation, disbursements from the fund amounted to $36,682, compared with receipts of $16,334—a deficit of $20,348.

Mrs. McCurdy's report showed a balance of cash and securities at April 15 was $472,336.

In a separate report of the finance committee, which she convened, Mrs. McCurdy said fewer new chapters were organized last year but membership of existing chapters had increased, and national fees were $242 higher.

MUCH ACCOMPLISHED

"We cannot but feel encouraged as we look back over the splendid accomplishments of the chapters during the past year," she said, "and inspired to rise to new heights of service and devotion to the ideals of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire."

Mentioning "the vital interest taken by chapters in their local problems," Mrs. McCurdy said "public parks have been equipped and maintained, public libraries have been instituted and even operated, exhibitions of art and the work of ex-service men have been sponsored, and wings of hospitals, where urgently needed, have been built and equipped."

Mrs. R. H. Hart of Winnipeg, convener of the Navy League committee, urged in her report continued sympathetic interest of I.O.D.E. members both in financial assistance and personal service in caring for retired seamen, sailors on lakes and ocean or visiting Canadian ports, and helping in the training of sea cadets.

She said the Sea Cadet corps of Victoria and Vancouver received attention in British Columbia. From Victoria $59 and from Vancouver $429 was contributed. A reserve fund was opened in 1933 to provide uniforms for the boys, car fares and special equipment.

Mrs. F. E. Burke of Vancouver reported on behalf of the Empire work in India committee that last year saw completion of the original objective of a $15,000 subscription to help erect the science wing of St. Helena's School at Poona, and contributions this year were "not as large as formerly."

The national director of the I.O.D.E. Girl Guide committee, Mrs. Lawrence Smart of Toronto, reported 23 new companies were formed during the past year.

British Columbia reported formation of the 7th I.O.D.E. Girl Guide company in Nanaimo and Waterways Pact Proposed By U.S.

New Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Offer to Canada Made Public

By A. E. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA—Realization of the full possibilities for power and navigation development in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence basin is planned in a draft treaty presented to the Canadian Government by the United States administration.

It is the latest in a long series of attempts by President Roosevelt and State Secretary Cordell Hull to bring the two countries together in development of their common power resources and the building of a seaway that would bring ocean-going vessels to the midwest.

The treaty envisions provision for a 27-foot-deep seaway from the Atlantic to the head of the lakes by December 3, 1949. It attempts to sweep aside opposition from the Ontario government by concessions to Premier Hepburn. It would erase boundaries by setting up a 10-man joint commission to develop plans and advise the two governments on a building program.

TABLED IN HOUSE

The draft treaty was tabled in the House of Commons last night with only a few remarks from Prime Minister King. He gave no indication of the attitude of the Canadian Government toward it. In Toronto, Premier Hepburn, who has shared honors with the United States Senate in opposition to the St. Lawrence development, said he saw no sound reason for building the waterway. It would have to be justified economically before his government would agree to it.

Briefly, the treaty highlights are:

A 27-foot seaway to be built from the ocean to the head of the lakes, work to start as soon as possible, Canada undertaking to provide by December 31, 1949, for its share.

An international commission to allocate to each country the part it would be asked to construct.

Work in the United States and Canada to be built by the governments of those countries, the American government bearing the bulk of the cost in the international section from just east of Cornwall, Ont., to near Prescott.

WATER DIVERSION

The United States would remove its objection to export of power from Ontario and diversion of water from Long Lac and Ogoki River into Lake Superior. Ontario would get the benefit of that diverted water in power development at Sault Ste. Marie, Niagara and in the international section.

Ontario would be empowered to postpone development in the international section of the St. Lawrence until there was a demand for the power in Ontario. The United States could start development on its side of the river at once.

Beautification of Niagara Falls would be carried out by a provision for an unbroken crest at both the United States and Canadian falls.

Cost to the United States would be approximately $243,661,000, and to Canada about $38,071,000, Canada having already paid approximately $128,000,000 for the Welland Canal. Ontario would pay $67,000,000, it is estimated, for the power it would gain.

The new treaty combines in altered form the provisions of the St. Lawrence treaty of 1932 and the Niagara Beautification Convention of 1929, both rejected by the United States Senate.

OPPOSED IN U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new United States proposal for developing the St. Lawrence deep waterway encountered opposition today from many of the senators who blocked the $500,000,000 project four years ago. Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, and Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, the other senator from President Roosevelt's home state, both opposed the plan.

Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, pointed out the treaty would permit diversion of only 1,500 cubic feet of water a second into the Chicago Drainage Canal. He said the Mississippi River must receive more water than that from the canal in order to fill a proposed nine-foot channel.

Even Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, who worked for acceptance of the 1934 treaty, predicted the new offer would be bitterly debated.

Police Raid In Berlin Nets 339

BERLIN (AP)—Police made an unexpected raid last night on fashionable cafes along the Kur-fuerstendamm, in Berlin's West End, and took into custody 339 patrons, of whom 317 were Jews.

Armstrong Is New Champion

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

JOE DIMAGGIO is hearing the Bronx cheer, but he says, "Oh, let 'em boo. A few more base hits will straighten it out." In the turmoil, and despite the fact that he reported late, and had no training, DIMAGGIO has a batting average plenty over the .300 mark.

"Are you satisfied?" a sports writer asked the picture hitter. "No," he replied. "No more than you would be satisfied if you were writing stories and books worth $40,000 a year while you were collecting $25,000."

"And why should I be satisfied?"

"The New York Yankees finished second for three years before I came to them."

"I believe that any sound baseball man will agree that I had a lot to do with their winning two American League pennants and as many world championships."

"I believed I was worth $40,000, and I haven't seen anything since to cause me to change my mind."

DIMAGGIO, up from the ranks, understands the fans' side.

"Times being what they are," he observes, "guys sit up there and think: 'There's that big bum crabbins' about taking $25,000 a year, and we can't even get $1000.'"

"But they aren't playing ball, are they?"

"They say I'm too young to be getting $40,000, and that I haven't been in the league long enough. Well, Shirley Temple isn't so old, and she's doing all right. Jack Dempsey wasn't an old man when he broke into big money, and nobody beefed about what he collected. Joe Louis is still this side of 40, and he's done fairly well for a kid."

"I'm just taking care that Joe DIMAGGIO doesn't wind up like Jackie Coogan. There's another case for you. Coogan couldn't get too much more time before he was of age, but his parents collected millions for him while he was a child."

"Now, I'm not a child, and I'd like to get it while the getting's good. Nobody's going to give me a quarter to play baseball when I'm 40."

"And suppose I get hurt?"

"What difference does it make how old you are when you deliver?"

"By the time I hit the second home run in St. Louis the other day, they didn't have a word to say."

"After all, I've had two pretty good seasons."

"I'm the Yankee convincer, and everybody who knows baseball knows it."

"I told Colonel Ruppert when I signed that I wasn't satisfied."

"He looked at me, and asked: 'Well, what are you signing for?'"

"Because I want to play ball," I replied, and it looks as though I have to play for $25,000 or not at all. So here I am."

"I held out just so long, and then I figured that Colonel Ruppert could be as stubborn as myself. He's got much more money than I have. I decided that I had better take what I could get. I don't believe that it would have made any difference to Colonel Ruppert whether the Yankees had gone badly without me. He'd just made up his mind to let me sit."

DIMAGGIO is Exhibit A for the contention that spring training is overdone.

He bounced right into the lineup after a few hours of batting practice.

But players like DIMAGGIO require little rehearsing.

He isn't mad at anybody. He's still the high-class kid who entered the American League two years ago. You can't blame a fellow for trying to get all he can get.

BALL RACES TIGHTEN UP

Yankees and Chicago Are Making Matters Interesting For Major Leaders

A new picture of the major league baseball situation is on display today as the leaders of the two circuits start into foreign territory and Lou Gehrig starts another thousand or so consecutive games.

"Iron Horse" Lou, playing his 2000th game without a miss, and those big Memorial Day crowds pushed a few other important items into the background during the last two days. Now it's coming to light that the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants aren't out there alone as they were a short time ago.

The New York Yankees, as attested by their doings of the last two days, are coming right along in old-time form and Chicago Cubs are doing just as well. The Indians and Giants haven't shown many signs of slipping, but they don't have far to fall.

Although the durable Gehrig, who broke into the Yankee lineup 13 years ago today, didn't have much to do with it, Yankees really began to show their mettle in the just-concluded series with the Boston Red Sox. On Monday 83,529 fans came out to see the Yanks move into second place with a double victory over the Sox. Yesterday they consolidated their position by whipping Boston again, 12 to 5, in the only game on the big league program. Lou hit a homer Monday, but only a single yesterday.

COAST LEAGUE

Introducing Dominick Dallesandro, the San Diego Padres' midrange outfielder with the big bat. Hitting the scales at a mere 199 and only five feet five inches tall, the young Italian from Reading, Pa., has acquired a hitting habit deeply resented by the seven other teams in the Coast Baseball League.

The league's fourth ranking hitter with an average of .345 in 41 games, he perturbed the leading Sacramento Solons no end yesterday when he smashed a homer, his sixth of the year, to score Al Niemic ahead of him in the first inning to give San Diego a 2 to 1 victory.

In the only other game yesterday Hollywood Stars with Johnny Bahch-pitching four-hit ball, defeated the cellar Oakland Acons, 6 to 3. It was the 40th defeat for the Oaks in 62 games.

Skyrockets to Schoolboy Record

Jimmy Todd, Victoria, Fails to Qualify as Seattle Golfer Sets National Pace

NEW YORK (AP) It's the West's year in the United States Open Golf championship.

Not only will the tournament be played in the west for the first time—at Denver's Cherry Hills Club, June 9 to 11—but golfers from beyond the Mississippi dominated yesterday's sectional qualifying yesterday.

They had a greater representation than ever before in the history of the tourney, more qualifying places to win among the 141 which were open to more than 1,000 contestants, and they did it with better scores.

All but the 29 players exempted because of last year's performance had to do their qualifying shooting at 31 centres yesterday. Barring a few who decide not to try their luck, there were 1,194 of them.

When results were tabulated, Jack Westland, former Chicago amateur star who now does his playing around Seattle, led all the rest. He shot 69-68—137—nine under par.

One stroke higher were the Los Angeles leaders, Olin Dutra, 1934 open champion, and Charles Lacey, and Francis Scheider of Oklahoma City.

TODD UNLUCKY

J. E. Todd, Victoria amateur, wrecked his hopes at one hole, the 34th, after getting a nice 72 in the morning in the Seattle play.

He pulled his second shot in a clump of trees alongside the green and had an easy-looking out, but hit a tree and wound up with a big eight. He finished with a 78 for a 36-hole total of 148.

Albert (Scotty) Campbell, ex-Walker Cup star, tied with Harry Miller, Sand Point club golfer, who has only been playing three years, with 143 for second place behind Westland in the Seattle regional. Campbell had a 75 in the morning and came back with a cracking 68 in the afternoon.

Miller carded a par 73 and topped it with a sub-par 70 in the afternoon.

Neil Christian, Yakima pro, and Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., money player, tied for the last qualifying spot at 146 to lead the professional divots. Leonard found trouble on the play-off hole, and Christian won the right to go to Denver.

Other scores included: Chuck Congdon, Tacoma, 147; Ken Tucker, Everett, 147; Walter Pursing, 147; Fred Wood, Vancouver, 148.

Kasimir C. Zabowski, Winnipeg professional, and Merlin Luther, young Buffalo amateur, representing the Fort Erie, Ont., Downs Golf and Country Club, managed to qualify. Zabowski capt. in the Minneapolis district round and Luther qualified in the east.

Victoria Baseball Club Tackles Lodgemen Tonight at Athletic Park

The Athletic Park will be the scene of a baseball game this evening when the Victoria Baseball Club, sharing the top berth in the pennant race with Pitzer and Nex, takes on the Eagles at 6. Steve Redgrave will be the umpire.

Ray Matland will go to the mound for Coach Harry Bell's clubmen and Axel Kinnear will do the receiving. Stan Davies will parade to the hillcock for the Eagles for his first start this season. Henry Woodford will do the catching.

JACOBS SIGNS UP ARMSTRONG

New York Promoter Gets Three-year Contract With New Boxing Champ

NEW YORK—Promoter Mike Jacobs today signed Henry Armstrong, the double fight champion, to a contract whereby he will have exclusive promotional rights of the sensational negro for three years. The contract is identical with the one Jacobs holds with heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

Under the terms, Armstrong cannot fight anyone anywhere except under Jacobs' promotion.

Armstrong, who wrote ring history last night at the Madison Square Garden Bowl by lifting the welterweight crown from Barney Ross and adding it to the featherweight title he took from Petye Sarron, will rest for a month or two and then take after Lou Ambers' lightweight championship. Hammerin' Henry suffered a bruised left hand in giving Ross the worst beating of his ring career, but the injury is not serious.

Ross, the entire right side of his head bruises and blue from the terrific pounding he took, remained in seclusion. After the fight, he announced his retirement from the ring and then was whisked away to a secret hiding spot to recuperate.

Of the gross receipts of $160,860, Ross received $47,605. Armstrong's share was $27,203.

They had a greater representation than ever before in the history of the tourney, more qualifying places to win among the 141 which were open to more than 1,000 contestants, and they did it with better scores.

Sets Record

Going over the bar at 4 feet 9 inches, Patsy Hanbury, seen above, from the Quadra Street School, shattered the junior high jump record in the recent city school sports. The previous mark of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches was set by Elsie George, also from Quadra, four years ago.

Dialect Plays Are Warmly Received

Adjudicator Finds Character Work Good at Festival; Detailed Criticism

Personality and dialect plays held the stage at the Tuesday night session of the British Columbia Provincial Drama Festival at the Shrine auditorium. Several players and parts of the performances drew praise from Larrae A. Haydon, the adjudicator, who gave a more detailed criticism than on Monday night.

A humorous Scottish play, "The Laird's Woolen," written and directed by Louise R. MacBride and performed by the Victoria Little Theatre Association, was described by Mr. Haydon as beautifully handled as to direction. He termed it "slick, smooth and well planned."

The comedy business of Alec McGown as the Laird of Lumreedy he described as very good and convincing, though it was sometimes slow in developing. In the part, however, he thought there was some excuse for the Laird's cue delays, but could not see them were justified for Tammas Anderson, a farmer neighbor, played by J. J. Matheson. Jessie Robertson took the part of Kirsty, the Laird's housekeeper.

"The holding of pauses by sheer characterization was one of the nicest jobs I've seen done by nonprofessionals," the adjudicator said. He suggested the play might have had more action at the start.

Mr. Haydon directed a somewhat similar criticism as to the slow beginning of a Yorkshire comedy, Act I of "P.W.E." (Constance Gilmour), staged by the Punch and Judy Theatre under the direction of Christopher Frere. However, he thought the cast had got the maximum out of their characterizations in a poor setting.

The audience gave a splendid reception to the Yorkshire humor which was handled by Pat Fairweather as Harriet Hellwell, Muriel Thompson as Ada Alice Mawson, Douglas Flintoff as Ira Mawson, Mabel Ridley as Emma Whitehead, Jack Atkinson as Bob Overend and Jenny Boyd as Liz-zie Hardisty.

Mr. Haydon said Ira's characterization and timing was good and Emma was consistent. Harriet at times seemed detached from the play, and he had to strain at times to catch her dialect as well as that of Emma.

The Victoria Little Theatre Association also put on "Personal-ity Street," a symbolic drama written and directed by Audrey St. Denys Wood. It was a character study outside a theatrical boarding house with blackouts. Mr. Haydon said the play was bitterly true of the theatre, but needed rewriting and revamping, especially of the end to make it effective. Some of the meetings between characters were illogical, and he thought the character Peter was "a bit youthful." Those taking part were Lloyd Cann, W. B. Crawley, Pat Fairweather, Peter Cumberbirch, Donald Corbett, Leo Marston, Maryan Peterson, Art Kerr, Mary Hickman, Philip Heal and Austen Goward.

"Defeat" (John Galsworthy) was presented by the Progressive Arts Players. It was directed by Christopher Frere with a cast of but two, Marguerite Elliott as the girl and Rai Ferry as the officer. Mr. Haydon said he liked the mood of the play, although the setting was a bit dark and had a crooked picture. He questioned the girl's accent and thought the officer a bit stiff. The girl, he said, appeared only two dimensional, lacking intensity and spontaneity. The cues dragged and tempo was bad.

The family tree started by a pair of human beings would produce 2,048,009,000,000 people in 2,000 years—if it were not for epidemics, war and other agencies of untimely death.

Junior Chamber Of Commerce Meets

At last night's meeting of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce it was decided to accept the offer of the South Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association to provide a speaker to speak on raw milk at the next meeting of the chamber.

Harry Short was elected to arrange for a Junior Chamber goodwill cruise on June 12 to Salt Spring and Sidney Islands.

It is expected that about 25 or 30 members will take part in this cruise.

A letter from Mark Hart, director of the Bothell Band from Bothell, Washington, offering to bring his band to the city for the midsummer celebrations, was read by Norman Foster, secretary. Mr. Hart offered to bring his band here at no expense to the celebrations committee.

The 75-piece band of the Edison Post No. 118 of the American Legion, accompanied by a large delegation of members from that post, will arrive in Victoria early in September for a short visit, it was reported.

CARS FOLLOW FIRE ENGINES

NANAIMO — The city council Monday night passed a resolution from the City of St. Catharines, Ont., asking that Dominion legislation be passed to observe Victoria Day on the Monday of the week in which it falls each year, instead of the regular date of May 24.

Fire Chief Benton will attend the British Columbia Fire Chiefs' College at Vernon, commencing on June 20.

Mayor V. B. Harrison will attend a conference of the Canadian Council of Social Workers in Vancouver in June.

The council endorsed a complaint of Fire Chief Bramley Benton against motorists crowding behind fire trucks en route to a fire and parking around the scene of the conflagration, often interfering with the work of the firemen, a practice the council agreed must be stopped.

SCOUT NEWS

ST. MARY'S TROOP

The weekly meeting of St. Mary's Troop was opened on Friday evening by Duty P.L. Dave Cornall, with 35 Scouts present. Following the opening ceremony and roll-call, a monthly inspection of the Rover Crew took place, and Gull Patrol will hold the neatness trophy for the coming month. The annual patrol competition, in which the various patrols competed for the honor pennant, was held. Tests in fire-lighting, signalling, first aid, knotting, Scout laws, Union Jack and Kim's game were held, the winning patrol being the Crows, followed by Herons and Eagles. Refreshments were served. H. Robinson, secretary-treasurer of St. Mary's Scout and Cub Parents' Committee, gave a short talk on the garden party to be held at the residence of R. H. Palmer, 1580 York Place, June 11 at 3. He also presented the following badges to members of the troop: Ambulance, Bob Travis, Jim Robinson, Barry Taylor, Alan Wright and Don Anderson; entertainer, Jim Robinson; one-year service star, Roger Anstey; two-year star, Barry Taylor.

SOUTH COWICHAN SCOUTS

A concert was given last week at Cowichan Station by the South Cowichan Scouts. The program opened with a Scouts' camp-fire scene, which included songs by the Scouts and solos by Mrs. Ridgeway and Len Weaver, accompanied by Miss Ridgeway and Don and Robin Wood. The Scouts also contributed a melodramatic play and an exhibition of pyramid building. Boys from the Fairbridge Farm School, headed by Ed. Walton, gave a tumbling act. A well-acted and amusing play, "Katzenjammer Kids," was given by the Cowichan Girl Guides, directed by Miss Betty Fall.

Guest artists from Victoria who contributed enjoyable solos were: Mrs. Ridgeway, soprano; Stan James, comedian; Reg Stofor, whistling and musical saw; Jasper English, concertina, and Robin Wood, piano. Other turns were given by Miss Martin, tap dance, accompanied by Mrs. Grant, and Don Wood, violin, accompanied by Robin Wood.

The concert was under the direction of Scoutmaster R. P. Kingscote, who has lately taken over the First Cowichan Scouts, assisted by Don Wood.

ESKIMOS MUSH LONG DISTANCE

MONTREAL—After traveling more than 1,950 miles by dog-train and railway, three Eskimos from the Oblate Mission at Chertfield Inlet reached Montreal Sunday over their way to Quebec. Delegates to the Eucharistic Congress, and accompanied by Rev. Father L. Ducharme, they are Alphonse Kollitsier, John Ayaruar and Simon John's seven-year-old son. Speaking neither English or French, the Eskimos gave their impressions of the rail journey and this part of the world through Father Ducharme. What surprised them most was the size of the buildings and the trees on their journey in the train. Never having seen an engine bigger than an outboard motor, they were overawed by the great locomotive drawing their train. They described train berths as "moving igloos." Given his first taste of ice cream in the diner, Simon asked, "Why is it cold? You can have things hot here can't you?" When hot tea followed the ice cream the Eskimos laughed at the weird logic of the white man. On arrival in Montreal the Eskimos were welcomed by Msgr. Turqueti, "Bishop of the Arctic." They attended mass in the bishop's private chapel and were not at all surprised to hear chants in the Eskimo language on phonograph records.

TANKER REFLOATED

Point Tupper, N.S. (CP)—Imperial Oil tanker Calgarolite which grounded on a ledge in the Strait of Canso yesterday, slipped off into deep water three hours later and continued to Montreal, apparently undamaged. The 11,000-ton vessel was bound to Montreal from South American ports.

MONTREAL—By arrangement with the Dominion Government, Canadian National Railway will build new passenger stations at Saskatoon and La Tuque, Que., officials announced today.

MAKING SURE AIR ROUTES

Major D. R. MacLaren Says
T.C.A. May Not Start Before
End of Year

VANCOUVER (CP)—Major D. R. MacLaren, assistant to the vice-president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, said here today it was "very doubtful if there will be a full-fledged air mail and passenger service over T.C.A. lines this year."

Major MacLaren flew here yesterday on an inspection trip which started in Montreal. He will leave for the east Thursday, stopping en route at Calgary and Edmonton.

"We are waiting until all landing fields are fully equipped to handle our new planes," he said. "There remains much work to be completed, especially at Lethbridge, Alta., and Regina terminals, where runways must be finished and night-lighting installed."

"There is a possibility that regular air mail operations will start before the end of this year, but we want our pilots to have the experience of a full winter's operations before we start passenger flying."

Major MacLaren emphasized his company was "placing most emphasis on safety, both in air and ground equipment."

"My trip out west has shown me that the method of pilot training we have adopted has been most effective," he said. "I have watched the pilots and they are just as efficient as any air line in the United States."

"They will be consistently efficient and well-developed from coast to coast. The whole system has been planned with the idea of cohesiveness and providing for modern high speed planes."

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Mariners are advised that the black wooden spar buoy marking the extreme of Maple Spit, Baynes Sound, B.C., is reported missing.

WILL SURVEY RIPPLE ROCK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver merchants' exchange said today it had been advised by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, National Defence Minister, that the Dominion Government had set aside $5,000 for investigation of danger to shipping of Ripple Rock in Seymour Narrows, and a survey of possible means for its removal.

Ripple Rock splits the narrow channel. It lies just below the surface, and mariners have long claimed it is a menace to shipping.

The exchange said Mr. Mackenzie advised it the Federal government would undertake the survey work this summer.

Preferred Death To Deportation

Young German Seaman Told
Sweetheart She Would Read
His Fate in the Newspapers.

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the story Albert Heinz said his sweetheart would see in the newspaper—if he died.

The body of Heinz, young seaman who had been brought from Miami, Fla., for deportation to Germany, was found floating in the Hudson River off Hoboken, N.J.

In his pocket was a letter addressed to Lou Annice Summers of Miami.

"Dear Hopey," it began. "They are taking me away from you, from America and from all the happiness which you have given me."

"They will send me back to Germany, but I never will get there... I love you like I never did before. I have cried so that I have no more tears left."

"Whatever happens from now on may cost me my life, but I will not let anyone take me away from you alive. If I die you will read it in the newspapers. If I am alive you will hear from me."

Then, in a postscript, he wrote: "I gave up my country, Germany, for America and its honorable flag, for its freedom and history, and for my girl from Mississippi."

"They didn't believe what I said. They sent me back to Hitler. But I will prove, alive or dead, my honesty and the mistake they make. Yours forever, Albert."

The letter was dated April 6.

NOT AT ADDRESS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Nothing was known of Lou Annice Summers at the Miami address on the letter in the pocket of Albert Heinz, whose body was found today in the Hudson River off Hoboken, N.J. She could not be located.

Around the Docks

BEULAH SHIFTS

With her future still in doubt, Ms. Beulah, which was raised from the harbor bottom at Ogden Point in March and taken to Esquimalt for survey, was towed yesterday afternoon from her berth at Yarrow Limited to the Pacific Salvage Company's wharf in the inner harbor.

The vessel is owned by Flood Bros. of San Francisco, but just what they intend to do with her could not be ascertained this morning.

It was said that the Beulah would remain at the inner harbor wharf until her status had been decided by the underwriters.

DESTROYER IN DOCK

H.M.C.S. St. Laurent, which has been in drydock at Esquimalt since Monday getting overhaul, is expected to leave the basin either Thursday or Friday. The work on the destroyer is being carried out by Yarrows Limited.

PIONEER IN PORT

Arriving in port from the United Kingdom via Seattle early this morning, Ms. Pacific Pioneer, Capt. Hugh Campbell, of the Furness (Pacific) Line, discharged 825 stems of Ecuador bananas from Guayaquil and a consignment of citrus fruits from Los Angeles.

Other freight put off here by the Pioneer included whisky, woollens, settlers' effects, blankets, textbooks, printed paper felt, oxide of iron, chinaware, linen towels, cotton goods, sports goods, glazed tiles, figured glass, automobiles and auto parts.

The vessel cleared about noon for Vancouver, for which port she carried 3,500 stems of bananas and 750 tons of general. While alongside Pier I, Rithet docks, the Pioneer took aboard a shipment of lumber and coopeage stock for the homeward trip.

NAVARINO HERE

Back here within three months of her first visit, Ss. Navarino, Capt. Charles F. Semple, was at the Canadian National docks today loading 1,000,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom. She was here late in February last on her maiden voyage. Discussing the steaming qualities of his ship this morning, Capt. Semple said the Navarino averaged 9.4 knots on the homeward voyage and 10 1/2 knots on the return trip here from England, burning but 18 tons of coal per day. "The longer I'm in her, the better I like her. She is a real ship," he said.

DOWN THE GANGWAY

HERE TO FISH

Traveling all the way from the United Kingdom with the intention of penetrating into the northern interior of British Columbia to fish for salmon trout, Mr. and Mrs. J. Botley of Chollock, Kent, England, reached Victoria today as passengers by the Furness motorship Pacific Pioneer.

"I have heard so much about your wonderful trout in Canada and my wife and I intend to do some fly fishing ourselves," said Mr. Botley, following his arrival here.

"We shall go into the interior by way of Kamloops and trek north to get some of the fishing that the Governor-General enjoyed last year."

Mr. Botley owns an estate in Kent and a shooting box in the North Scottish country at John of Crofts, where there are numerous lochs stocked with fish. "The trout we fish for in Scotland, however, are not very large—not more than four pounds," he said. "Out here we expect to get much more exciting sport."

Mr. Botley had hoped to take some salmon fry back home with him to stock his Scottish lochs, but regretfully explained that British fishing laws prevented him from doing so.

Other passengers arriving from England by the Pacific Pioneer this morning were Mrs. F. Agnew and Miss M. Midegley, proceeding to Vancouver. Miss E. Villar came ashore here and is staying at the James Bay Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Wheeler were passengers from San Francisco. They brought their car with them and propose to motor back to California.

ARM WAS FRACTURED

Harry A. Barnett, well-known marine surveyor of Victoria, suffered a fracture of the left arm yesterday when coming ashore from the freighter Merchant Royal at Cowichan Bay. Mr. Barnett was descending the ship's gangway when he slipped and fell to the wharf, the gangway falling on him. He was given first aid at the Cowichan Bay wharf and then brought to St. Joseph's Hospital here, where his arm was set.

Air Mission Is Back in Britain
